COSC341 Tutorial 3

1. Propose some "computational problems" and decide whether language recognition (plus some scaffolding) is enough to resolve them.

   Probably yes? An exception of course is if we allow our computational problems to include real-time constraints (e.g., system control).